DEDICATION

This thesis is dedicated to my parents

Ms. Niki Nace

and

Mr. Robert Spavelko, Sr.,

for their many blessings in my life,

to all who are touched by the experiences shared here,

and to all of the “lost water children”

who are yet remembered.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

It takes a village to bring a work like this into existence. Many people have supported me both in this project and in my overall growth as a musician at the University of Louisville and to them I offer my deepest gratitude.

First, I would like to thank my composition teacher and thesis director, Steve Rouse, for his mentorship during my study at the University of Louisville. His encouragement, guidance, and experience have made me a much more capable and thoughtful composer, to say nothing of his kindness, patience, and good company. I have immensely enjoyed our time together.

I would also like to thank Kimcherie Lloyd for serving on my thesis committee and for her support of this and other works of mine. I appreciate her exceptional direction of the University of Louisville Symphony Orchestra and the opportunity to have my works both read and performed. I have also enjoyed singing under her direction and with the orchestra in the Opera Theater.

Thanks to Marc Satterwhite for serving on my thesis committee and for his work as Director of the Grawemeyer Award for Music Composition. I appreciate and have benefited from his efforts to arrange lessons, masterclasses, lectures, concerts, and gatherings with our esteemed winners.

I would like to thank Michael Ramach for his work with me in the University of Louisville Opera Theater. His method of training us to prepare and perform operatic works, not only as singers, but as actors, has deepened my understanding of drama's function and has made me both a better performer and a better composer. It is a special program that would support my desire to do both firsthand.

Thank you to my past and present voice teachers and coaches—Jennifer Poff, Amanda Boyd, Deborah Dierks, Jo Ellen Harris, and Jason Hiester—all of whom have contributed to refining my own instrument and to expanding my understanding of the singing voice. I could not write for voice as effectively or as intuitively without these experiences.

I would also like to thank my family and my many friends who have listened, critiqued, encouraged, and applauded my work through this year, and made my days much brighter besides. You know who you are.

Finally, especial thanks is due to my two collaborators for this work.

Thanks to Chloe Yelena Miller, a perfect stranger and now dear friend who answered the call and stepped forward bearing her beautiful collection of poetry. She possesses the artistry to create profound meaning and imagery in a short space; I knew immediately this was the “something important” that I was seeking.

A thousand thanks to Natasha Lynn Foley, who enthusiastically agreed to collaborate with me as a singer and friend on this journey before I ever penned a single note. It has been such a rewarding experience to have her considerable talent and unfailing support. I hope this project will be the first of many more together.

PROGRAM NOTE

Baby Book sets three poems from Chloe Yelena Miller's collection of the same name. It will later be expanded into a six-movement work. The cycle explores miscarriage, pregnancy, and young motherhood.

Great Aunt Dora is a real person; she is the poet's own great aunt, a dearly beloved family matriarch. This poem is a conversation between the mother and the growing child inside her. Great Aunt Dora passed away before she could meet the child. Thus, the conversation is bittersweet, but full of fondness and reminiscence. It is a beautiful vignette that unites these generations. "Great Aunt Dora" has the appeal of a familiar lullaby, with enough interest in the rhythm, harmony, and orchestral color to lend a novel sound.

"Objects" is at its heart a lament. A mother grieves her child and struggles with having no tangible means of recognizing her loss as with other deaths, which further isolates her. Several musical devices unify this movement. The chords of C minor and A^b Major 7 are used frequently and create a sense of harmonic ambiguity. A variation of the latter, A^b-D-E^b-G, creates an even more striking, dissonant chord which colors the most dramatic, painful moments of the work. A prominent motive, here and throughout the cycle, is heard on the text "There's nothing to wear, carry..." and is recalled both in powerful and quiet moments, a reminder of this profound loss.

"Children's Pool Game" emerges directly from "Objects." The title implies lighthearted amusement. Indeed, after the opening quote from "Objects," the musical material transforms into something more playful, yet somehow disquieting. The true intention of this movement reveals itself only at its end, and it resonates in a much deeper place in our hearts.

The composer hopes this cycle will foster dialogue about miscarriage as part of the healing process and will recognize and celebrate women through these shared experiences.

POETRY

by Chloe Yelena Miller

Great Aunt Dora To You (Before You) Week 30

She'd been waiting for you.
She'd sit in the blue chair, under the window,
elbows out as if cradling you.
Swing her arms back and forth.
Talk about how she'd hold you,
teach you to walk between our knees.
Ask me when you'll come; urged,
"hurry up!"

I promise to tell you all about her.
How she prepared meatballs,
two spoons to turn them.
How she knew you'd be smart,
handsome and ever so kind.

Oh, how she loved beginnings.

"Great Aunt Dora To You (Before You)" is unpublished at the time of this printing.

Objects

To mourn a woman,
carry her picture, wear her lapel pin.
There's nothing to wear, carry
after a miscarriage.

In Japan, mothers mourn
lost "water children."
Gardens of small statues
in red knitted hats, bibs.
Hands in my pockets,
I stand at the edge of the Tidal Basin,
wilted cherry blossoms above and below.

"Objects" was originally published by Literary Mama.

Children's Pool Game

Even with closed eyes, we can find each other again.

I'll shout Marco!

You'll shout Polo!

Ok?

Marco!
